VIII. Public Comment

A. Board Corner

Robert Altman – Robert had some concerns regarding Banned Book Week. He is not a proponent of banning books, however, he referenced a recent television event where Senator Kennedy was reading a book and a large portion of it was beeped out. His concern was if it cannot be said on television, should the Library have some additional controls over materials the Library circulates. There was a lengthy discussion regarding Robert's concerns with the entire Board, Library Director, Jennifer Drinka and Assistant Director, Amy Blue. His main concern was with the younger patrons having access to material which may be questionable. The majority of the room voiced what may be considered questionable/inappropriate material for one is not necessarily for all, which is why the Library does not censor material for all. It is up to individual families to decide what their children should check out at the Library. Any patron can read any material in the Library without checking out. It was stated if a patron finds a particular item in an area of the Library they believe is not age appropriate, they can submit a Request for Reconsideration.

Ryan Haley – Absent, shared comment via email. I would like to thank all the library staff members for their hard work, dedication and resiliency during a stressful time with libraries being targeted with threats.

Toni Leprich – Things are looking good.

Paul Hettich – Asked if the Library had a portable sound system for circulation. Amy Blue responded no but we can get one.

Susan Moore – Great comments regarding staff.
